OVER 400 SOULS PERISHED

WHEREABOUTS OF THE SUNKEN SHIP FOUND BY A SISTER VESSEL.

The Foundered Man-of-War One of the Cruisers that Towed the Columbus Caravels Across the Sca.

CADIZ, March 19 .- There is no longer any doubt as to the fate of the Spanish cruiser Reina Regenta and her crew of 420 officers and men. The cruiser lies at the bottom of the Mediterranean, and it is believed every soul on board perished. The cruiser Alfonso XIII arrived here to-day after a search for the Reina Regenta, and reports having found the latter vessel sunk near Bajo Aceitanos, not far from the Straits of Gibraltar. Only twenty inches of the Reina Regenta's masts were above water. The Alfonso XIII at once returned to the scene of the wreck with a number of divers and diving appliances in order to recover the bodies of the crew of the sunken war ship.

The Reina Regenta was reported missing on March 13. She had just conveyed from Cadiz to Tangier the returning Moorish mission to Spain. The cruiser left Tangier on March 5 for Cadiz, and her whereabouts has not been definitely ascertained until to-day. Pieces of one of her boats and semaphore flags were reported to have been picked up along the shore near Ceuta and Tarifa. So soon as the reports of the disaster became current a number of Spanish and British war ships put to sea in search of her. A french steamship, on March 14, arrived at Gibraltar and reported having seen a big vessel, supposed to have been the Reina Regenta, ashore in Bajo Aceitanos. The commander of the French craft added that he was unable to assist the war ship on account of heavy weather. On March 15 the steamer Mayfair arrived at Barcelona and reported sighting a vessel believed to be the Spanish cruiser Reina Regenta on the morning of March 10 between Tarifa and Cape Espartel. The war ship had lost her funnel and bridge, and was laboring heavily in the high seas and fierce gale which prevailed. Although she was apparently unmanageable the cruiser did not ask for assistance, and therefore the Mayfair did not offer her any. But the captain of the Mayfair added that he was of the opinion that she could not long have survived in the storm in the condition in which she appeared to be at the time he saw her. Later the Spanish cruisers Isla de Luzon and Alfonso XIII returned to Cadiz after having searched the Spanish and African coasts and the straits without any news of the missing war ship. Deputy Diaz Moreau, who was formerly an officer in the Spanish navy, in the Chamber of Deputies, during the evening of March 14, read the statement of a former commander of the Reina Regenta in which the writer described the cruiser as a vessel unable to weather a heavy storm owing to the increased weight of her armament. In the Senate Admiral Beranger. former Minister of Marine, said that the Reina Regenta was one of the best ships in her class. She was well appointed in every way, he added, and if she was lost he believed she must have collided with another vessel or have gone ashore. Sub-sequently, in an interview in regard to the statement made by Deputy Diaz Moreau, in which a former commander of the Reina Regenta alleged that she was top heavy, Admiral Beranger said that the overweight of the cruiser deck guns was rectified two years ago by his orders when he was Min-ister of Marine.

The uncertainty as to the fate of the Reina Regenta caused great public excite-ment in Madrid, and the government was ment in Madrid, and the government was accused of keeping back news of the ship and of having ordered the detention of the censors of all telegrams giving information about her. But when a number of flags, a compass box and other wreckage known to have belonged to the Regenta was washed ashore at Tarifa she was given up

excitement from the moment she was reported missing.

A dispatch from Madrid says: The positive news of the loss of the Spanish cruiser Reina Regenta, which reached here from Cadiz immediately after the arrival there of the cruiser Alfonso XIII, caused the greatest emotion in Madrid and throughout Spain. The Queen Regent was deeply distressed. By her Majesty's orders, the sacrament has been exposed, night and day, in the royal chapel from the time the first report of the disaster reached her, and by her direction prayers for the safety of the crew of the Reina Regenta have been said continuously ever since.

Hope Not Yet Abandoned. MADRID, March 19 .- The officials here consider that it is still possible that the officers of the Alfonso XIII are mistaken in their identification of the wreck as that of the Reina Regenta. Senor Moreu, lately the commander of the cruiser Sonde De Vonedito, said, in an interview, to-day, that he believed that such an expert sailor as the captain of the Reina Regenta would the captain of the Reina Regenta would have quit the dangerous coast in the vicinity of Tangler at the first symptoms of a storm and made for Cadiz or Algecienas. If he found that impossible, owing to the tempest, he would have endeavored to have got into the open sea, where the vessel may have foundered or still be floating, disabled. The Queen Regent, after whom the vessel is named, is still hopeful. She has ordered that the prayers for the safety of the ship and crew be continued.

The government probably knows whether or not the vessel has been lost, but is hiding the truth until a new ministry shall have been formed. It is stated that the search will be continued but this is a forlorn hope. The common people are loud in their maledictions, which they direct against the Moorish Mission, to convey which, back to Morocco, the Reina Regenta was sent to Tangler.

to have sunk an American schooner off Cuba, and the Nueva Espana were the other ships of the Spanish squadron. The latter arrived at Fortress Monroe on April 21, 1893, the Reina Regenta having the caravel Santa Maria in tow. The Pinta was in tow of the Infanta Isabel and the Nina was toward by the Near All three was towed by the Nueva Espana. All three of these Spanish war ships took a conspicuous part in the great Columbian naval parade in New York harbor on April 27 of the same year.

The Riena Regenta was launched in 1887, and was one of three second-class deck-protected cruisers of the same build, her sister ships being the Aifonso XIII and Lepanto, all of 4,890 tons, twelve-hundred-horse-power, and expected to steam twenty knots. The wrecked cruiser was 320 feet long, had fifty feet six inches beam and a draught of twenty feet four inches. She was propelled by twin screws. Her protected deck was three and three-fourths inches on the slopes, her conning tower had five inches of armor, and her gun shields were three inches thick. The armament of the Reina Regenta consisted of four nine-and-one-half-inch Hontoria guns, one on each side forward of the central superstructure and one on each side aft; six four-and-three-quarter-inch Hontoria guns in broadside, the forward and after pair in sponsons and the middle pair in recessed ports, and fifteen rapid-fire and machine guns. She was also fitted with five torpedo tubes.

WITH MUCH CEREMONY. Formal Betrothel of the Duke of

Aosta and Princess Helene. LONDON, March 19 .- A special dispatch from Paris to the Daily News says that the betrothal of the Duke of Aosta and Princess Helene, at Chantilly, last night, was conducted with the utmost ceremony. Owing to the recent death of the Count of Paris, all present were attired in deep mourning. The ceremony of betrothal was preceded by a walk in the park, after which all assembled in the salon of the Chateau Chantilly. The princesses alone were seated. The Duke of Aosta entered the salon and approached the Countess of Paris, the mother of Princess Helene, and said that he had the happiness to believe that he had won Princess Helene's heart and that his wishes would be crowned if the Countess would consent to their marriage. King Humbert's consent, he added, had already been obtained. The Countess replied that she was happy to confide her daughter's happiness to the care of a prince, who she personally esteemed and whose august house was already connected by marriage with the house of France. The Duke then kissed the hand of the Countess and after-wards kissed Princess Helene's hand and led her to an embrasure of a window,

The Duke and the Princess had been previously engaged, but it was thought due to the dignity of both houses that a formal demand be made for Princess Helene's hand. The acceptance of the proposal was immediately telegraphed to the Italian embassy in Paris. Nobody would be surprised to hear that the Cabinet promoted the betrothal in order to please the members of the Right and as a step towards bers of the Right and as a step towards a break-up of the triple alliance. The Daily News correspondent declares that the wedding will be celebrated at Turin in April and that the ceremony will probably take place in the Della Cisterna

German Colonial Estimates. BERLIN, March 19.-The Reichstag adopted the colonial estimates after a heated debate. Dr. Kayser, director of the Colonial Office, defended Baron Von Wissman's administration of German East Africa, which Chancellor Von Caprivi censured last year. Bebel, the Socialist leader, attacked Von Schele, the retiring Governor of German East Africa, and of the colonial officials, against whom he made serious charges. Mr. Kayser declared the charges to be utterly unfounded, and Von Bieberstein defended the members of his department. The latter said that anonymous accusations should be repelled until Bebel gave the names of his informants. Bebel and Richter continued to demand, without avail, an inquiry into the charges which they brought against the Colonial Department.

FAITH CURISTS ARRESTED.

Granddaughter of the Late Congressman Houck Died in their Charge.

DAYTON, O., March 19.-Lilah Thurston Meade, ten-year-old daughter of Col. Harry E. Meade, and granddaughter of the late Hon. George Houck, who died in Washington while representing this district in Congress, died Sunday morning without having been given medical attendance. The little one was the victim of the faith cure. Mrs. George Houck and daughter, Mrs. Meade, are from the best families in Dayton, but of late years have drifted voluntarily into Christian science practice. The child, suffering from typhoid fever, was taken to a place kept by John R. Hatton and wife, who are at the head of the faith cure circles here, and the child died from neglect. The city is filled with excitement over it. The coroner has forbidden burial of the child, and has had the body placed in a vault, and will hold an autopsy to-morrow. Virginia Election Law Sustained. PETERSBURG, Va., March 19 .- In the Circuit Court of Brunswick county, Judge B. A. FIVE INDICTMENTS AGAINST INSPEC-TOR WILLIAM W. M'LAUGHLIN.

Captains Siebert, Price, Devery, Donohue, Murphy, Carpenter and Stephenson Among the Victims.

NEW YORK, March 19 .- All the police officials against whom indictments were found yesterday by the extraordinary grand jury were placed under arrest when they went to police headquarters this morning. Among the indicted men are: Inspector William McLaughlin; Capt. Jacob Siebert, Union Market station; Capt. J. J. Donohue, West Twentieth-street station; Capt. M. J. Murphy, West One-hundredth-street station; Capt. James K. Price, MacDougal-street station; Captain Stephenson; former police Captain Wm. S. Devery; wardman Edward Glennon (dismissed); wardman Edward S. Hill, formerly under Captain Price; wardman Burns (jumped his bail.) Shortly before 10:30 the indicted men gathered at police headquarters. After being placed under arrest they were conducted to the district attorney's office by Inspectors Williams and McAvoy. The former had in his care Inspector McLaughlin and Captains Siebert, Donohue, Price and Devery. The others walked by the side of Inspector McAvoy. Superintendent Byrnes said that the indictments which had been handed to him were all that had been found.

In the corridor the captains talked excitedly with their chief, but all professed ignorance as to what evidence they could have been indicted on. When it was announced that all the prisoners were wanted in the court of Oyer and Terminer, where District Attorney Fellows was waiting to fix the amount of the bail, the men filed into line, and, headed by Inspector Wiiliams, entered the court room. Inspector William W. McLaughlin was the first called to the bar. The inspector, pale and trembling visibly, was addressed by the clerk, who said: "There are five indictments against you." Justice Ingraham was handed the papers in the case, and upon the recommendation of District Attorney Fellows the bail was fixed at $20,000. The bail of the first charge was fixed at $10,000 and on each of the other four at $2,500. The bail in the case of John J. Donohue was fixed at $2,500; Michael J. Murphy, $10,000. Ex-Captain Devery's bail was fixed at $10,000. In the case of ex-Captain Stephenson no warrant was issued, as he is now under $25,000 bail pending a new trial for bribery. There are three indictments against Henry W. Schill, one for bribery, one for perjury and one for extortion. On the first two charges bail was made at $5,000 each and in the latter $1,000. Captain Selbert was held in $10,000 and Captain Price in $2,500 for extortion. Edward G. Glennon, who is under indictment and out on $5,000 bail, had $5,600 bail added. James Burns is also under indictment, and District Attorney Fellows said he had good reason to believe he would appear to give bail. The amount was not fixed. Carpenter is not on the force now and lives in Nyack.

THE INDICTMENTS. The indictments against Inspector Mc-Laughlin allege that the offences were all committed when he was in command of the old slip station-the First precinct. Each indictment contains five counts-four for bribery and one for extortion. The first four counts allege that certain sums were paid to McLaughlin and received by him as a bribe, on the understanding that he was to protect the giver from police in-Police Captain Creedon is a witness in this case.

There are three indictments against patrolman Schill. The first is for taking $15 from Albert Chick, keeper of a saloon and hotel in Seventh avenue which was run as a house of assignation. The second is perjury in falsely swearing before the grand perjury in falsely swearing before the grand-jury early in its session that he did not know Frank Webb and Virginia Jansen and that he had no knowledge of a transaction between them and Anna J. The third indictment is for at-tempting to extort money from Jared Flagg, ir., by threatening him with arrest for rent-ing flats for immoral purposes. Schill is jointly indicted with Captain Nye on this charge. Captain Burns is not in New York and the charges against him were not given out.

Captain Stevenson will be required to appear on Thursday morning to plead to the indictments, but he will not be arrested or placed under additional ball. The board of police, in executive session, this afternoon suspended all those officials in the department who have been indicted by the extraordinary grand jury.

It is believed the grand jury did not re-turn all the indictments that have been found. Those that were filed bear numbers. One went as high as forty-seven. The Supreme Court papers ordering the reinstatement of Capt. Adam A. Cross and Warlman George Smith, who were dismissed from the force by the Board of Police Commissioners, last August, were presented to the police board to-day. Besides reinstatement, counsel for the policemen asked for $2,056 expenses for Cross and $2,070 for Smith. The matter of reinstatement was laid over until such a time as ex-Assistant District Attorney Wellman could be consulted. Mr. Wellman prosecuted the case against the two men.

The Hypnotism Theory Abandoned. EAU CLAIRE, Wis., March 19.-One of EAU CLAIRE, Wis., March 19.—One of the famous hypnotism cases has fallen through in the Circuit Court. The case of the State against Dr. George W. Pieking and his son, Asigal Picking, charged with criminally assaulting Mabel Briggs, was nollied by the district attorney as to Dr. Picking and as to Asigal was continued. Dr. Picking was in court, but none of the Briggs family was there. District Attorney Farr had made up his mind not to go into court with a line of evidence which would have to be sustained by a theory of hyp-notism and that he could not convict the Doctor. Asigal is still in jail.

URGED TO KILL A "CHRIST."

by the Rockford Messiah. CHICAGO, March 19 .- George Coudrey, the Chicago stencil and die manufacturer, who is suing George Jacob Schweinfurth for $50,000, asserted to-day that he has been urged by many prominent church people, clergymen and laymen, to kill the pretended Christ. Coudrey's case against Schweinfurth, for breaking up the Coudrey family. was set for trial to-day, but the defense again secured a continuance. The persistagain secured a continuance. The persistent delaying of the trial angered the plaintiff, who is an old man, and, in a burst of wrath, he declared that if he had followed the advice of his friends he would have gone to Schweinfurth's "heaven" at Rockford and tested the "messiah's" immortality with cold lead. The old man's excited declaration created a sensation among his hearers. "Some of the most prominent ministers in Chicago," he said, "have told me that the killing of that man would be a Christian duty. Only the teachings and advice of Dwight L. Moody have prevented my following such counsel. Schweinfurth has broken up my home and taken my my following such counsel. Schweinfurth has broken up my home and taken my family away from me, and it is becoming only too apparent that I cannot get redress through legal channels."

HARVARD FACULTY DETERMINED TO KILL FOOTBALL.

Resolution Adopted That Declares Against Intercollegiate Contests-Various Sales of Trotting Horses.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., March 19 .- The Harvard faculty, at their meeting, to-day, again took a firm stand against intercollegiate football contests and to-night it looks doubtful if the crimson will be represented by an eleven on the gridiron next fall. The motion adopted this afternoon was worded as follows:

"The faculty having received and considered a communication from the committee on the regulation of athletic sports, dated Feb. 25, 1895, remain of the opinion that no student under their charge should be permitted to take part, in intercollegiate football contests."

The communication referred to was a statement prepared by the athletic committee, appointed by the college corporation, to have supervision in such cases as this. At a former meeting the faculty recommended the abolition of intercollegiate football to the athletic committee. The latter replied by suggesting certain modifications of the game, instead of its utter abolition. The recommendations proposed that all games be played on the home grounds of the com-petitors; that the sale of tickets be limited to graduates and under-graduates for themselves and their guests. Reform in the rules of play was also proposed. As regards intentional rough play the advisors express the conviction that nearly all the players in college teams desire to play in an honorable way, but that more effective legislation is needed for the detection and summary punishment of the exceptional player of a vicious and ungovernable temper and to this end they recommend an additional umpire and an increase in the powers and responsibili-ties of all the officials. Another meeting of the faculty will be held Aug. 2, when final and decisive action on the question is an-

the interest of Harvard at heart as deeply as the faculty have.

The faculty members are most reticent in speaking about the matter. One member, however, said: "In my opinion the vote merely expresses that the faculty is unchanged in opposition to the game. I have an idea that if the faculty were convinced that other colleges as well as Harvard were to take part in the movement for reform they would be willing to have the game played another scason."

PHILADELPHIA, March 19.-Cross and Hamilton, the two players of the Philadelphia club who refused to sign contracts unless allowed an advance of $300 over last season's salary, came to terms to-day and signed contracts for the season. LOS ANGELES, Cal., March 19.-Dr. K. D. Wise, of this city, has sold to John Cary, driver of the famous stallion, Joe Patchen, his entire string of horses for about $39,000, which is considered a remarkably low price. The string also includes Emin race mares. The string also includes Emin Bey, by Guy Wilkes, 2:21½; Cendine, 2:20, and a lot of three and two-year-olds. Mr. Cary said: "I think I will be back in California next winter. It is the best State to winter in that I know of. We will start to race on the Grand Circuit, which opens in Saginaw, Mich., some time in July. Right here I want to say a word about pool selling, and here Mr. Cary delivered himself of startling opinions, coming from a professional, practical horseman. "I wish that all betting and gambling on race tracks that all betting and gambling on race tracks could be abolished. I think if it is kept up horse racing will be demoralized. If it is abolished we will more than make up for the loss of revenue by the interest that a better class of people will take in racing."

When the officers got on his trait, Silva, who was suspicious of his wife, fearing that she had betrayed him, stabbed her through the heart with a bowie knife and buried the body in the sand. AILSA WINS ANOTHER RACE.

Britannia, However, Did Not Start, and Little Interest Was Shown. MONTE CARLO, March 19 .- In the faintest of breezes, this morning, Ailsa, Valkyrie, I, Corsia and Arenella started in the race, cruising trim, from Monaco to Nice. The prizes, two silver and crystal decanters and a medal offered by the Union des Yachts Francais were won by Ailsa. There was much disappointment when it was found that Britannia would not start, the explanation being that the Prince of Wales wanted his yacht at Cannes for a luncheon party Ailsa won by 17m 13s. The total length of the course was about nine miles. Henry Allen's American-built Dakotah won the prize for yachts not exceeding ten tons. Nine other yachts started in the latter race. But little interest was taken in to-day's racing and very few people witnessed the arrival of the yachts at Nice.

Vigilant Coming Home. BALTIMORE, March 19.-George J. Gould, who has been duck hunting in Maryland, returned to New York to-day. Speaking of the cup defender, he said: "I think this boat will be the greatest that can be built. She will, I think, be several minutes faster than the Vigilant. I don't know, but I think it probable that Captain Hank Haff will be the captain of the new boat. Last Tuesday Captain Charles Barr sailed with a crew from New York to Southampton, England, to bring the Vigilant to New York. England, to bring the Vigilant to New York.
